Pre-enrolment and Enrolment

Important: The COSi master program is in the process of renewing its Erasmus+ label (on February 2025), so the academic offering will undergo some changes for the 2024-25 academic year. Visit the consortium's official website at <https://cosi-master.eu/> to stay updated on these changes.

Pre-enrolment

El Distrito Único universitario andaluz establece, a través de la web de Preinscripción para Másteres Oficiales, una convocatoria anual en dos fases para realizar preinscripción en estos estudios de posgrado, incluyendo información y requisitos. However we encourage all potential candidates to check our COSI website for full details: <https://cosi-master.eu/apply/>

Scholarships

How to finance your Master degree?

We implement an ambitious scholarship policy to allow all students with outstanding academic background to join our programmes. No specific / additional application process for scholarships mentioned in this page are required from you beyond application to COSI and/or CIMET. If you apply to programme/s on time, your application will be automatically considered for all scholarships mentioned in this page.

Scholarships attribution is merit-based: same selection criteria, methods and decision-making for selection to the programme itself are applied to attribute scholarships, attribution is based on absolute selection outcome ranking of applicants. Learning performance during first year of the programme is used to grant scholarships during the second year of the programme. All scholarships are cumulative, except E+EMJMD and Eiffel scholarship (holders of these scholarships cannot apply to additional scholarships).
