FORTMED 2020 is the fifth edition of the International Conference on Fortifications of the Mediterranean Coast. The Conference will take place on March 26th, 27th and 28th October 1st, 2nd and 3rd 2020 in Granada, at the School of Arabic Studies (LAAC, EEA, CSIC).

The main objective of the Conference is to exchange and share knowledge, valorisation, management and exploitation of Culture and defensive Heritage that was developed on the Mediterranean coast, taking also into account the phenomena that took place overseas. The dissemination of the results is the crucial resource to achieve the objectives FORTMED 2020 has an interdisciplinary aim where architects, engineers, archaeologists, historians, geographers, cartographers, heritage managers, tourism experts, experts in restoration-conservation and promotion of heritage will participate. The idea is to provide more inclusive, more real and more up to date views, leading us to the highest point of the investigations on this matter in the twenty-first century. The theme is centred on the fortifications of the Mediterranean (Spain, France, Italy, Malta, Tunisia, Cipro, Greece, Albania, Algeria and Morocco) from the Antiquity to the present day; although it does not exclude
